„Blackness and Time“

Guest Lecture by
Prof. Dr. Michelle M. Wright
Longstreet Professor of English, Emory University

Wednesday, June 22, 2022
15:15 - 16:45
HS 16, Campus Augustusplatz (Hörsaalgebäude)

Michelle M. Wright is the Longstreet Professor of English at Emory University. Her research focuses on literary, cultural, philosophical, and political discourses on Blackness and Black identity in the Anglophone, Francophone, and Germanophone African Diaspora, from the 18th to 21st centuries.

Professor Wright has published two books ("Becoming Black: Creating an Identity in the African Diaspora"; "Physics of Blackness: Beyond the Middle Passage Epistemology") and also writes for the public media, with pieces published in Ebony, Chicago Tribune, The Root, and Los Angeles Review of Books as well as other media outlets.